It is a good option to clean your hair but there are some things to be aware of. I personally always opt for the first-hand shampoos because of the reason that it is more natural and does not contain the harmful chemicals that some of these alternatives contain. The following is a list of the second-hand shampoos: 1. Head & Shoulders Head & Shoulders is one of the most famous brands of shampoos. It is an option that people use when they are on a tight budget. It is a men's shampoo that you can get for a very reasonable price. It is a good option to clean your hair but there are some things to be aware of. Some of the chemicals in this shampoo are sodium laurel sulfate, a sulfonated surfactant, and triethanolamine, which is a drying ingredient. 2. Pantene This shampoo is another cheap shampoo that is available for a good price. Some of the chemicals in this shampoo are sodium laurel sulfate, a sulfonated surfactant, and triethanolamine, which is a drying ingredient. There are many variations of this shampoo and the original version is available in three colours. This shampoo does have a mild fragrance. 3. Dove Men + Care This shampoo is an option to use if you have a really sensitive scalp. It is a gentle shampoo that makes your hair soft and smooth. It is a men's Edit: I use this regular expression for removing #p_: (?Q: Is this a possible way to solve this for the electron? So, I want to know why some people call the electron a fermion. I thought about this way to solve it: Assume the electron has a potential $V(r)$ So the kinetic energy of the electron can be calculated as $$K = \frac{1}{2m} \int \|\vec{p} + q \vec{A}\|^2 dx = \frac{1}{2m} \int \frac{(p+qA)^2}{2m} \|\vec{p}$$
